

Elizabeth Lim is currently a senior at Harvard University, where she is pursuing a major in composition and a minor in East Asian studies. Originally from the Bay Area, California, she was a member of the Music Teacher's Association of California (MTAC) Young Composers Guild and has received numerous other awards and honors for her compositions, including the Harvard University Hugh F MacColl Prize for her string quartet, "The Dream." Most recently, her pieces have been performed at the Kunstuniversität in Berlin, Germany, the 2007 Nevada Encounters of New Music Festival, 2006 SCI Student National Conference, the NACUSA San Francisco Chapter Composers Concert, the Brevard Music Festival, and the Bowdoin International Music Festival. At Harvard, Elizabeth is involved with several musical organizations, including the Harvard Pops Orchestra, Harvard CityStep program, Harvard University Choir, and Harvard-Radcliffe Contemporary Music Ensemble.